

Thai Archaeology Study Scholarship

The Royal Thai Embassy and the Institute of Archaeology are delighted to announce a scholarship of 250,000 Bahts (approximately £5,000) for a postgraduate archaeology student, intending to continue their career in the UK, to undertake research in Thailand for up to 6 months (during the academic year 2011/12). The scholarship will cover a return airfare, accommodation, living expenses, research documents and related costs of conducting research in Thailand.

Applications (by way of a brief project proposal, not longer than two sides of A4, including rough costings) should be submitted to the Director's PA, Kelly Trifiló (k.trifilo@ucl.ac.uk) by no later than Friday 1 April 2011 with a decision being taken by the end of April

Please contact Professor Cyprian Broodbank (c.broodbank@ucl.ac.uk) if you have any queries regarding your suitability for this scholarship
